

LIBRARIES STEP UP

2021 Advocacy
Marketing Toolkit

Goal

A major hurdle for funding is the perception that libraries have been closed during the pandemic. Legislators are hearing complaints and misinformation from their constituents. Why should we receive our budget request if services are not being provided?

To help counter that perception we need to tell the story of how libraries have adapted to provide services during this challenging time. Even when libraries were closed for general browsing, they were helping communities stay connected with access to materials through curbside deliveries, expanded virtual programs, digital collections and so much more.

How do we achieve this?

By reaching out to patrons, board members, trustees and our communities and asking them to share their experiences with state legislators and local officials. Asking them to “Step Up for Their Library”.

The focus of this advocacy campaign is a direct mail postcard. Patrons and community members can request a postcard from their library. They can then write a personalized message and mail it to their state legislator or local official.

What's in this toolkit?

The resources in this kit are a Swiss Army knife of marketing tools and templates to support the direct mail postcard campaign. The tools are designed to be easy to use, but customizable enough that any library, system or branch can incorporate their own branding and messaging. Included are:

- Postcard Designs
- Sample Social Media Posts
- Informational Flyer Templates
- Poster Templates
- Email Template to Supporters

- Use the Canva templates linked in this toolkit to create your own postcard design or as inspiration for a design of your own. Print or order a supply of postcards for your system, branch or library.
- Use the marketing templates linked in this toolkit to help promote the “Libraries Step Up” campaign via email, social media and printed materials. Each template has placeholder images that can be easily swapped out for images of your own.
- Distribute postcards and information handouts to interested parties. Don’t forget to include the contact information for your state legislator or local official.

Sample Email to Supporters

Dear/Hi _____,

I'm reaching out to you because I know and appreciate how supportive you have been of the LIBRARY NAME in the past. As our library enters the 2021 budget season, we are asking our library super supporters to send a postcard to your state legislators and/or local officials telling them why you are thankful for the LIBRARY NAME.

We want our elected officials to understand what the library does for COMMUNITY NAME and for residents like you, especially during the pandemic. Your words make a powerful difference in showing the community's support for the library.

I would be happy to supply you with a postcard (or several if you wish!) that you can mail to an elected official, and a list of names and contact information for officials in our district and municipality. If you'd rather send an email, below is a list of email addresses for the lawmakers in our area.

Not sure what to write? "I am thankful for the LIBRARY NAME because..." or "The LIBRARY NAME helped me in 2020 by..." are great ways to start your postcard.

Feel free to respond with any questions. Thank you so much for everything you do to support the LIBRARY NAME. Your help ensures that our library will continue to serve and strengthen our community for years to come.

Sincerely,

LIBRARY DIRECTOR NAME
